Applying for Aid

Graduate international students are eligible for student loans from private sources. After you locate a private lender, please complete our Graduate Loan Application. Keep in mind that the total of all your funding including scholarships, fellowships, research assistantships, teaching assistantships, and student loans may not exceed the price of attending MIT. After you’re awarded financial aid, there are additional steps you must take before your aid is disbursed.

Recommended application deadlines:

- June 1 to receive an anticipated financial aid credit as of your fall bill
- November 1 to receive an anticipated financial aid credit as of your spring bill
- May 1 to receive an anticipated financial credit as of your summer bill

1 STEPS

ROLLING DEADLINE

Graduate Loan Application

If you have special circumstances or unusual expenses, or any other information that will help us understand your financial situation more completely, please include that information in the last section of the MIT Graduate Loan Application.

Mail email or fax your completed application to:

MIT Student Financial Services
77 Massachusetts Ave., Room 11-120
Cambridge, MA 02139
617-258-0700 (fax)